

LEADERSHIP BIOGRAPHIES

Cathy Stofac is the Director of Advancement for Home for Families in Central Ohio. In her role at HFF, Cathy serves as the conduit between our community and critical mission delivery for families on the path to stability.

Cathy has extensive non-profit experience including over 25 years in leadership roles in education, aging services, health, the homeless, and community social services systems. Over the course of her career, she has built teams and engaged communities to overcome critical funding gaps created by rising needs and demands for quality services beyond the threshold that current funding sustains. Cathy is uniquely passionate about the mission of Home for Families, and infuses her personal belief that families deserve and have the right to housing, economic and educational stability with her professional goal of advancing the organization and creating sustainability for Home for Families for decades to come.

Cathy is a Certified Fundraising Professional who benefitted from an education in English Journalism from Otterbein University.
