

American Electric Power kicks off Dowd Education Center 25th Anniversary with a $25,000 lead gift!

Teresa Dowd, founder of The Homeless Families Foundation (HFF), believed all children in our community should have a home and the key to ending homelessness is a stable family. Her willful spirit fueled the partnership between American Electric Power (AEP) and HFF that now spans over 33 years. AEP has been vital in the development and success of the programs HFF offers, specifically the Dowd Education Center.

Because of the vision of people like Teresa and the continued support of corporate leaders like AEP, the Dowd has evolved into a fully-licensed, summer and after school educational enrichment program, changing the lives of nearly 100 children every year.

The vision of the HFF Dowd Education Center is to give students various ways of thinking and experiences to draw upon. The Center aims to foster an environment where out of the box thinking is given time, is valued and is rewarded.

The goal is to provide students with the tools and assistance needed to improve their reading and math levels, provide programming that supports Social Emotional Learning and physical fitness, and open the world to students through various programs and activities.

A Message from Our Executive Director

Summer at The Homeless Families Foundation is a truly amazing time of year. Excited children, happy to be finished with the long school year, join us from early morning to late afternoon for our nine-week summer program. Their smiling faces and joyous voices can be seen and heard throughout the building as they learn, create and play with their Dowd friends and family.

As we celebrate the 25th Anniversary of the Dowd, summer is the perfect embodiment of our Founder's love and passion for children. Our HFF mission of nurturing children and stabilizing families begins with providing children a safe place to spend their time after the school day and the summer, but it does not end there. Dowd Center programming strengthens our children's skills in reading and math, teaches important life skills, and prepares our young people to be leaders and innovative thinkers. Teresa Dowd often said she viewed education as the "great equalizer" for children living in poverty and we believe the same truth today. The goal of our education services is to prepare our children for the future; focusing on strengthening skills, exposing children to new ideas and challenging them to "think outside the box." We do this while also supporting our children's families with meeting basic needs and addressing housing challenges. A holistic approach to helping our children broaden their horizons so they can pursue their hopes and dreams.

Thank you to all those who have supported the Dowd Education Center over the past 25 years. Your gifts of time, talent and treasure have helped thousands of children and their families continue their best journey toward stabilization and a prosperous future. During these difficult and changing times, our work at The Homeless Families Foundation will be increasingly important to the future of our children and community. We look forward to the challenge ahead and hope you will join us for many years to come!

Best regards,

Beth Fetzer-Rice
